Sandy,
Good luck
in future years
thanks for being so patient with me
while I rattled on about the boys. Don't be too rough on Ken and Scott. If we ever hike up to Redstone, how about coming back through La Valle. If you don't like Ken, why does your face always turn so red when we meet him in the hall. "Hot sunshine" I say
"It's going to be a hot time in the old town tonight." Please continue being such a sweet friend.

WHERE THE ACTION IS!

Today's teenagers lead a busy, active life, and the students of Webb are no exception. Our years in high school are filled with places to go and things to do.

The first thing we must do, of course, is to attend classes and to do our homework. Although this usually takes more time than we would wish it to, we do find time for things that might perhaps interest us a little more.

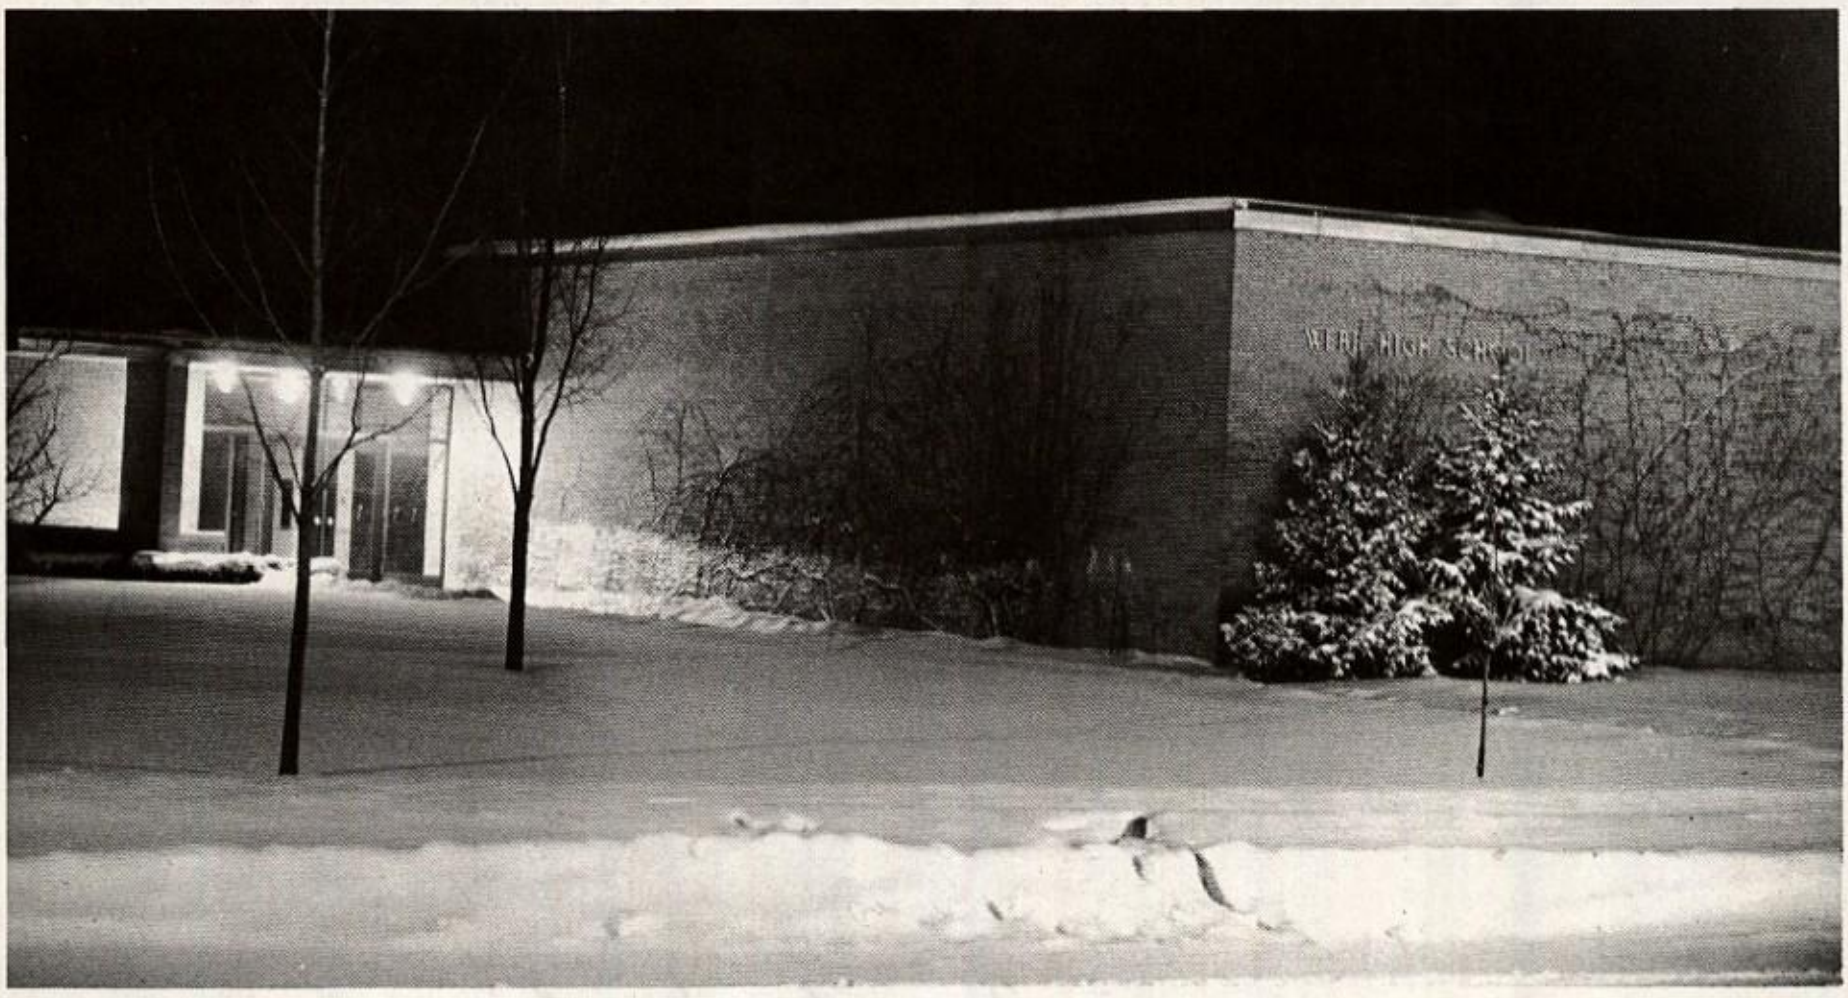
One field of interest to the boys is sports, where action certainly is present. The weekly sports events do not go by unnoticed by the rest of the student body, however. The students actively support their teams by attending the games and backing the players enthusiastically.

Music is another center of action at Webb. The band, choir and orchestra work diligently throughout the year to provide musical entertainment for us. Besides giving many concerts during the year, the music department is busy preparing for the annual solo-ensemble contest.

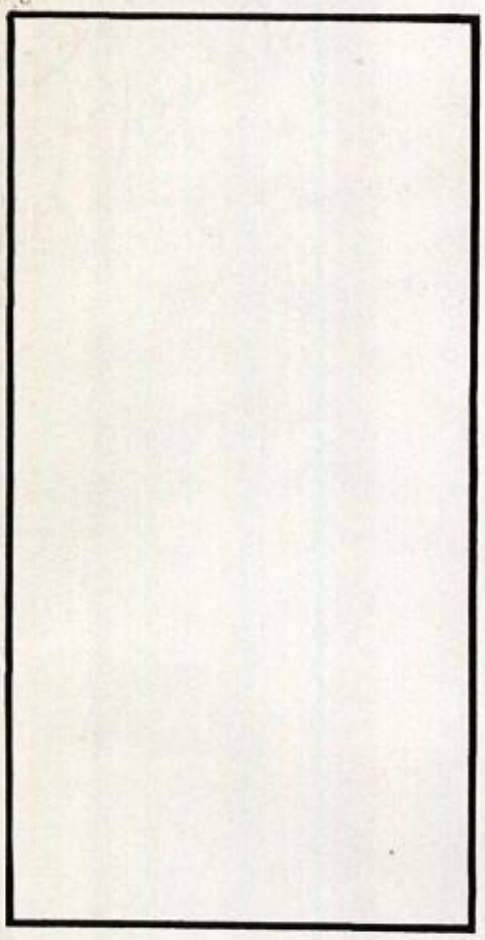
Many industrious students also take part in the production of plays at various times during the year. Forensics, too, is an important activity for interested young speakers.

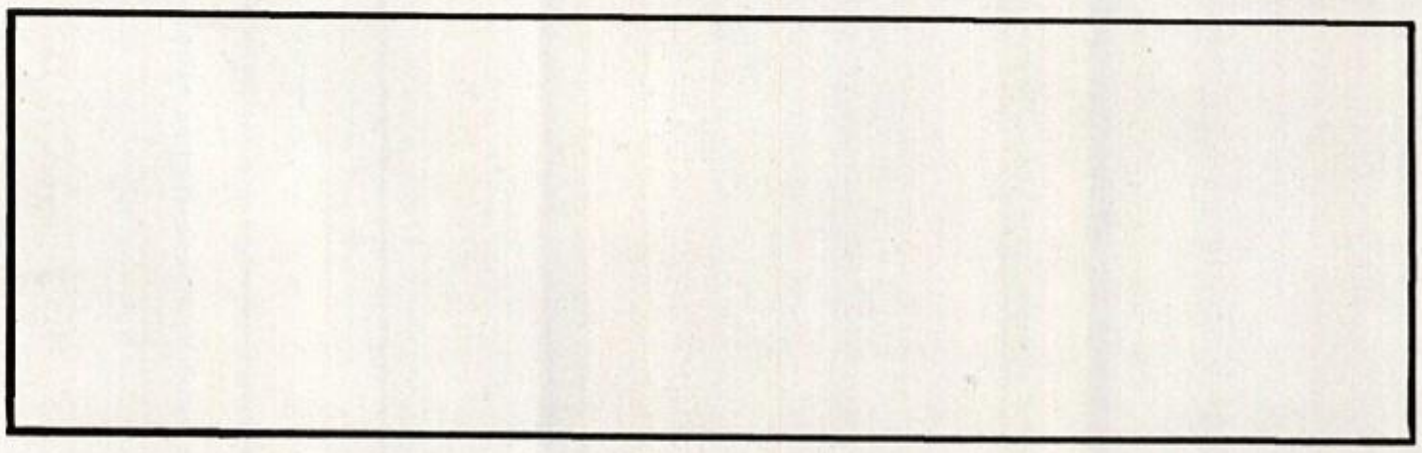
Some of the highlights of the year are Homecoming, Junior Prom and Loyalty. Particularly at these times the school is alive with activity, like that of bees around a hive. Feelings of competition and achievement run high.

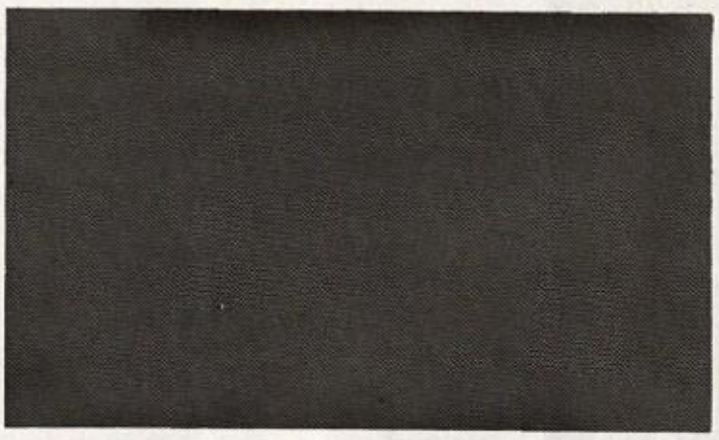
These are not the only times the students of Webb High School are active. Each day of their four active and full years in high school leads to the development of a productive life.



ADMINISTRATION AND FACULTY

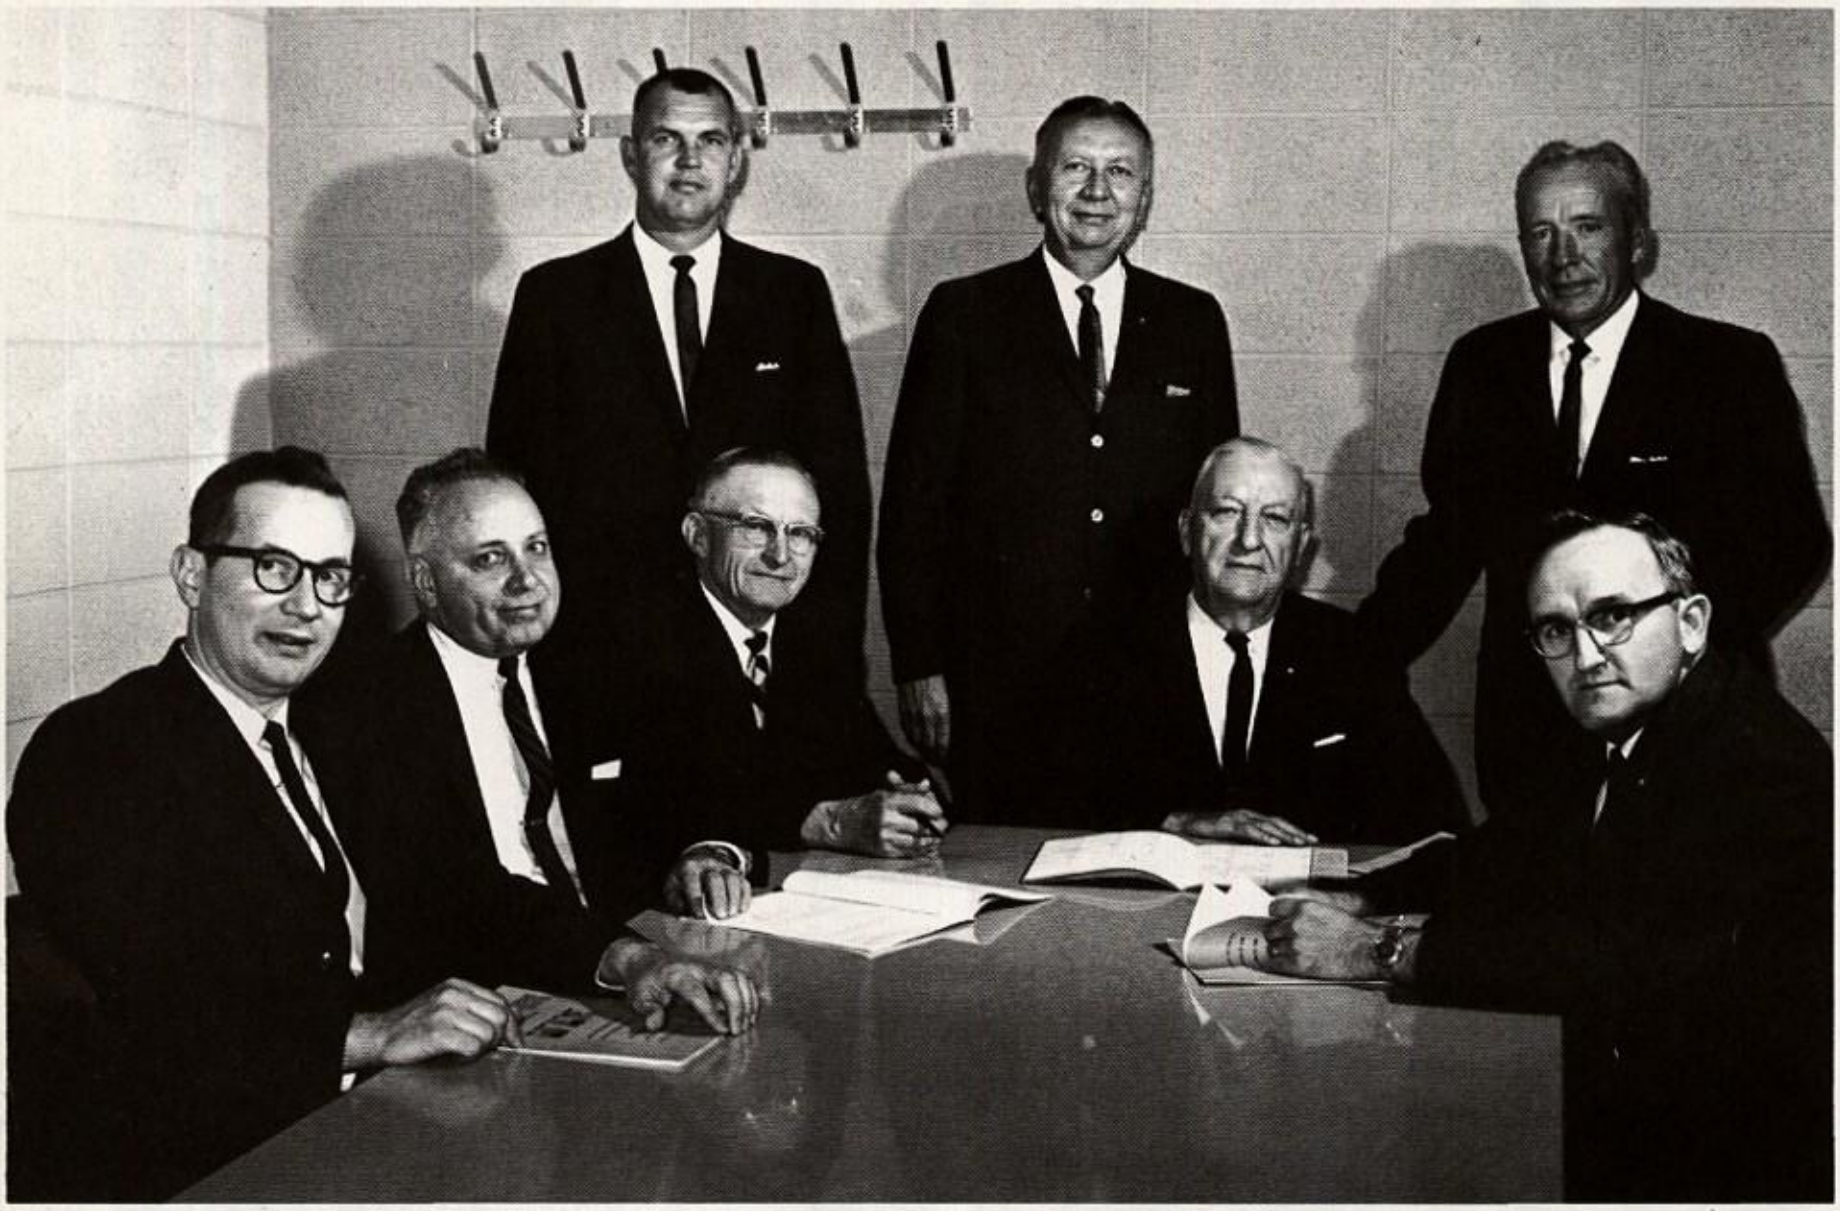






"Education is a possession which cannot be taken away from men."
Epictetus

Board of Education

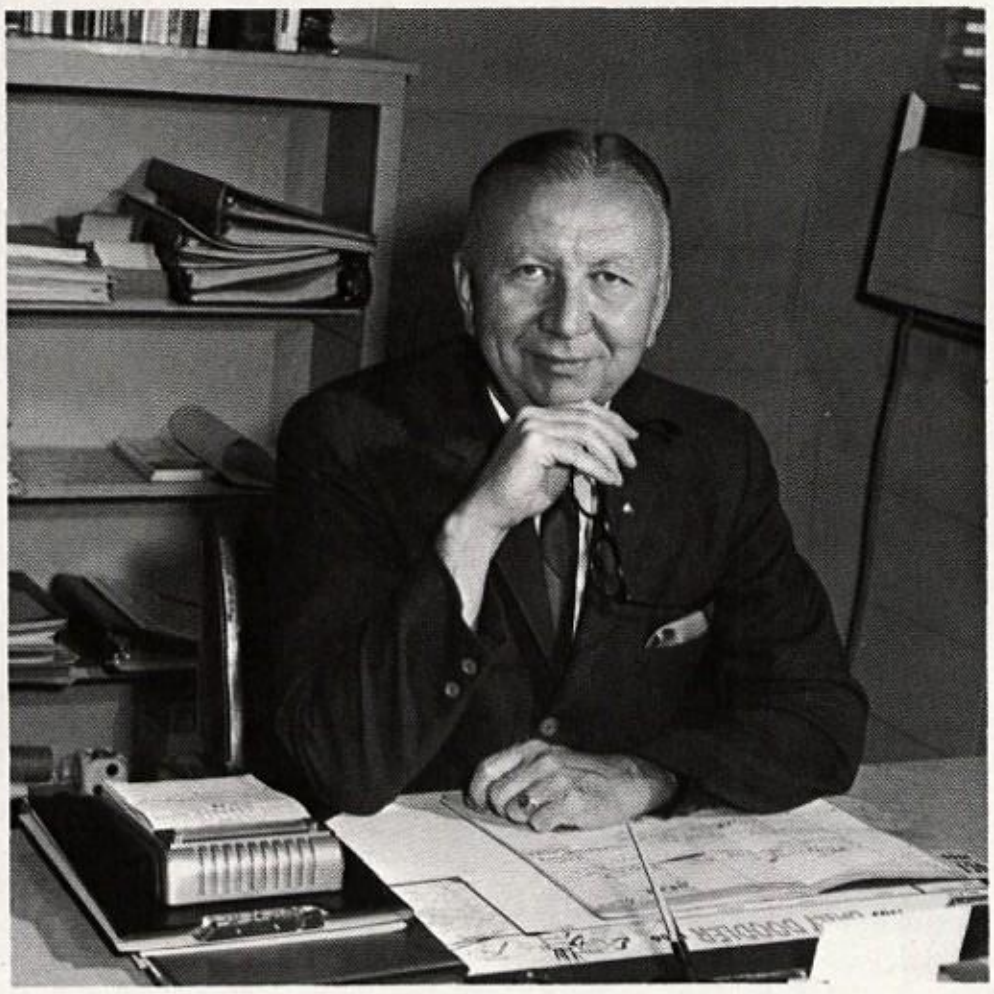


(STANDING) W. Berning, L. C. Olson, R. Whitty. (SEATED) M. Schmitt, R. Holtzmiller, Dr. A. Erickson, R. Stone, Dr. J. Tibbitts.

Bernice Moyes
Secretary

On being elected to the school board the members accept a public trust, a responsibility to represent all the people of the district. They must be familiar with public opinion as well as the educational needs of the school system. As active and interested citizens of our community, they give unselfishly of their time to provide a good educational program.

Superintendent of Schools



Mr. Olson

To the students at Webb High:

We hear and read much about the fast moving era in which we live. A year ago we were interested in a rocket to Mars; now one is on its way to Venus. More people graduate from colleges and universities now than from high school twenty-five years ago. The competition for post high school education is beyond the understanding of most of you. You are living in an age of youth where fifty per cent of the people in America today are 25 years of age or younger. Cars, planes, and trains travel faster than ever before; color television is commonplace; tremendous strides have been made in the field of medicine, especially in the transplanting of organs. Our way of life has become increasingly more comfortable.

With these accomplishments, you face an age of internal conflict, of groups understanding each other, crime rate beyond anything that has been known, areas of disrespect for law and order, slums, hunger, and ignorance.

Why should this be called to our attention as students?

1) That you live with the kind of people that are in this area so that you know how good people act and live.

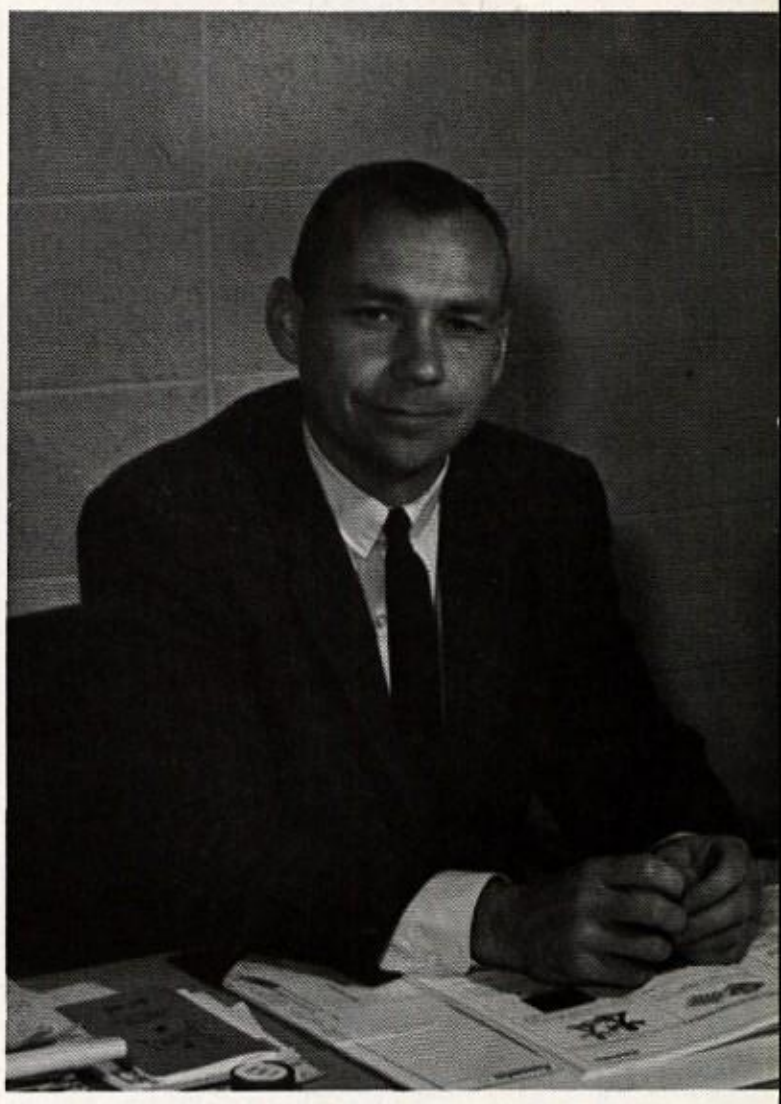
2) That there are churches that give the moral foundation necessary for a good life.

3) That the local government, the health services, recreation areas and the climate are conductive to good living.

4) You are privileged to live in a community that provides you with the kind of training and education that meet the challenges you must face.

Yes, you are fortunate to live in this area and attend this school.

Mr. Bruss, the assistant-superintendent of the Reedsburg District, is a very busy man. He is in charge of curriculum, which involves supervising the planning of courses of study by teachers throughout the school system; in connection with this work he plans inservice days. In addition, he directs the federal programs under the Vocational Act, the Defense Act and the Program of Government Finance; administers the state budget; organizes summer school; and gives direction to the building programs.



Mr. Bruss

Principal

Insuring that each individual student receives the best possible education which Webb can provide, is the main goal of Mr. VandeWater, Webb High's principal. He works with the entire faculty by supervising all classes, handling all inservice programs, and all faculty meetings. In addition he is in charge of coordinating the effectiveness of the teaching program. All extra curricular activities at Webb which involve the students and the public are also under his supervision.

Not only does he handle all public relations throughout this school district, but also is in charge of Webb's organizations and the student W.I.A.A. insurance program.

In general he represents leadership in action.

Best Wishes
A. VandeWater

The doors of Webb's guidance office are always open to any student seeking advice about his school work, his vocational plans, or his personal situations. Colleges, universities and vocational schools provide the guidance counselors with a wealth of information that they, in turn, transmit to interested students. Another intrical part of the counselor's duties is the administrating of numerous intelligence, aptitude, and diagnostic tests during the student's high school career.

Attendance Office

Don't be deceived by the minute size of Webb's attendance office. A lot of action is crammed into that cubby-hole. For example, to help cope with the system started in 1964 which keeps a closer check on all absentees and tardy persons. A new assistant, Mrs. Keesey, is new in the attendance office this year.

Loren Wolf M.S., University of Colorado; James Found B.S., Valparaiso; Reba Humphrey B.S., University of Illinois.

Music Department

The long range objective of the music department is establishing a curriculum guide for kindergarten through twelfth grade in order to give a more comprehensive musical background.

The highlights of the band department were the solo and ensemble and band contests. The pride of concert band members is their new uniforms.

Art Department

Art instruction in Webb High, which is offered for three years, provides training in two major categories, two and three dimensional art. The examples of two dimensional art most common to us are sketches and drawings. These employ only length and width. Among the art students, the self-portraits are extremely popular. Ceramics, such as pottery, sculptured forms, and plaster casting comprise the three dimensional arts which also use the third dimension, depth. Because of these divisions, the art department is one of great diversity.

Language Arts Department

The Language Arts Department of Webb High is operating on a block program begun in 1964. This plan devotes a quarter to each of the four major areas: American Literature, speech, grammar, and composition. According to Mr. Barry, the department head, this unique plan originated here; no similar program has been reported in the United States. College-bound students have agreed that such an in-depth study more adequately prepares them for advanced education.

Mrs. Ruth Reed B.Ed., Whitewater State University; Joseph C. Lynett M.A., Northwestern University; Mrs. Irene R. Clauson M.S., University of Wisconsin

Library

A friendly, relaxing reading room in Webb High is the library. A vast area of knowledge lies waiting for those who seek it. The library certainly is the center of all learning. Magazines, vertical file material, reference, fiction and other reading books are found in wide variety. Miss Graepp, the librarian, reported that six hundred new books were received last year and this number probably has been exceeded this year. Records, tapes, radios, and filmstrips are included in the new audio-visual material.

Commercial Arts Department

Among the courses offered in the commercial department are book and record keeping, personal and vocational typing, office practice, and shorthand. Equipment of the department includes mimeographing, adding and ditto machines—as well as typewriters, both manual and electric. In addition to receiving classroom instruction, office practice students offer their services to the school faculty.

Erna Graepp B.A., Concordia College

Social Sciences Department

The social sciences department of Webb High offers courses in geography, world history, American history, social problems and politics—economics (a course primarily meant for college-bound students).

The department, cognizant of a changing society, has this year evaluated its objectives to find the best possible combinations in social sciences.

The instructors hope that graduates will have acquired an understanding of man, his role and achievements in all levels of society.

Mrs. Patricia Keesey, Stephens College Columbia, Missouri; William G. Moran B.S., LaCrosse University; Sheila Blackadder B.S., University of Wisconsin

Physical Education

Activities for girls include physical fitness tests at the beginning and end of the school year, modern dancing, field hockey, basketball, and tennis.

Boy's phy. ed. is divided into two major units: ninth and tenth grade classes are taught track and tumbling; eleventh and twelfth—tennis, basketball rules, and gymnastics. All boys play volleyball.

Speech Therapy

Speech therapy brings into focus and helps erase any speech defects which may hinder the individual student either personally or in his work. The speech problems which are emphasized range from those caused by deficient hearing to inaccurate articulation.

In the spring of 1965, an audiometer was purchased for the department to provide for accurate hearing tests, and the hearing of Webb students was tested this year. Miss Miller also works at six other schools in the district.

Barbara Miller B.S., University of Wisconsin

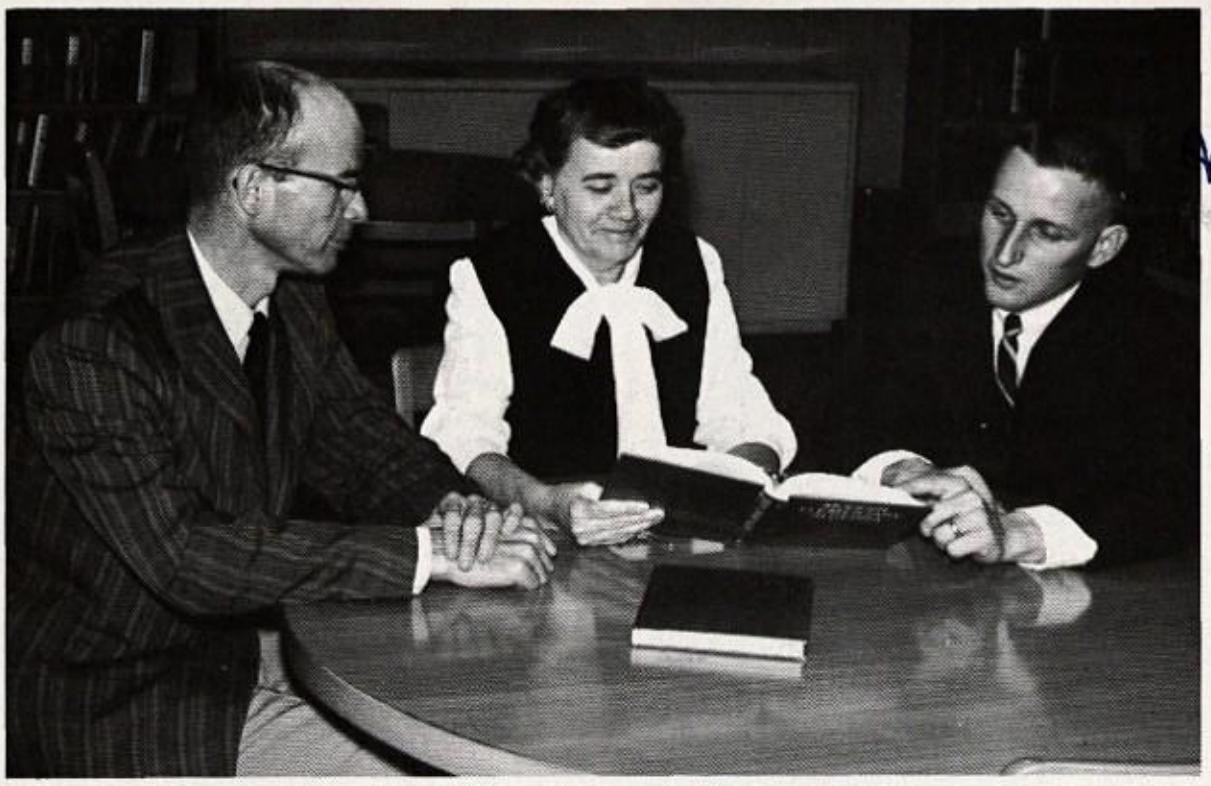
Driver's Education

Recently incorporated into our Driver's Ed program was a sixty-four foot trailer accomodating simulator equipment—12 driving booths and a front screen. These enable students to more fully comprehend actual road conditions and the maneuvers needed to meet them.

According to Mr. Clarence Lee, Webb High is the only school in the United States with a four-phase driver education program of classroom instruction, simulator training, range practice, and road application.



Clarence Bittner M.S., Univ. of Wis.; Mrs. Lois M. Laper M.A., University of Wisconsin; Roger Grundahl B.A., Luther College—Decorah, Iowa.

Mathematics Department

General math, algebra, geometry, advanced algebra, trigonometry and consumer math are the subjects included in Webb's Mathematics Department. New textbooks were introduced in these subjects this year. The discovery method of teaching is used whenever possible so that students will better understand the new material. It is felt that more students should continue their study of mathematics beyond the one year required at Webb High School.

Don't slip on the rocks! Watch out for your head! Turn on the flashlights! Isn't that rock formation gorgeous? These are a few of the comments heard as Mr. Olsen's senior science classes walked into Brice's Cave located one-half mile beyond Hillpoint.

The purpose of the trip was to study stalagmites. The students reported that the exploration was an exciting one producing many worthwhile discoveries. A sidelight to the event was the accidental abandoning of John Malo and Don Hirst. This oversight was soon discovered and the anxious explorers rescued.

Science Department

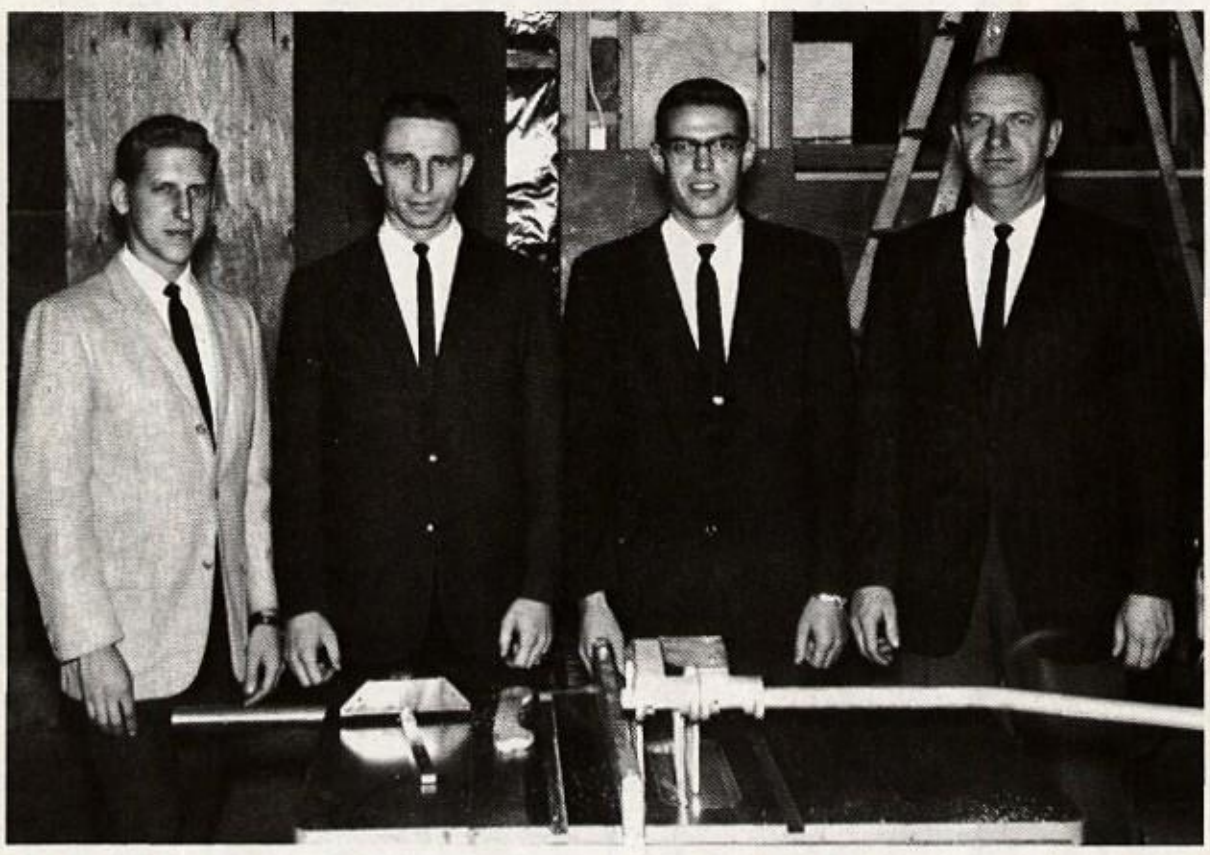
It is hoped that with the completion of science courses at Webb High, a student will have acquired increased powers of observation and an appreciation of scientific contributions. The teachers are continually striving to develop in the student the necessary skills and techniques for handling delicate scientific instruments and at the same time concentrating on a logical scientific method for solving problems.

Sandra Cuchna M.A., University of Wisconsin; Mary L. Grady B.S., University of Wis.

Agriculture Department

Since Wisconsin is the dairy state, the Department of Vocational Agricultural Sciences and Technical Training, more commonly known as the Ag Department, plays an important role in high school.

The study of agriculture was begun during World War I in order to stimulate food production. Ever since then, it has been largely supported through federal aid, although the problem which has faced agriculture in more recent years has been overabundance of food rather than inadequate production.



Larry Keller B.S., Stout University; William Gronley B.S., Platteville University; Donald L. McNaughton B.A., Stout College; Donald Johannes B.S., Platteville University.

Home Economics Department

The girls taking home economics are kept busy knitting, sewing, working with child development, preparing food, and doing home decorating. Great interest is shown in planning parties and luncheons. About Christmas time, the girls work on making centerpieces and house decorations. Foreign cooking is studied, thus giving the young cooks an opportunity to experiment with different recipes and techniques.

T. R. Lathrope, M.S., University of Wisconsin.

Industrial Arts Department

The phase of Industrial Arts called drafting concentrates on developing the skill of projecting an idea onto the drawing board, scaled proportionally.

Those interested in electricity delve into the intricacies of wiring, while students in the metals class concentrate on welding.

"Grease Monkeys" in the automechanics class learn to repair different types of machinery.

A new trailer for Santa Claus was the impressive fall project which required the talents of the entire Industrial Arts Department this past year.

Initiation

You Can't Win Them All

Dejection

The annual day of initiation was officially September 10. On this day each freshman admitted how "seedy" he was through dress —gunny sacks and rolled up long underwear—and vocal utterances. "Seniors are Superior" and the "Freshmen are Inferior" were true when the latter were forced to shine shoes and carry books. Many freshmen girls found that the seniors carried extra hair spray and dark red lipstick in order to enforce the day's rules for grooming.

In the afternoon assembly the freshmen who had not performed according to the initiation rules were made to pay. One punishment was being tied to a partner and both trying to bend over without breaking the eggs they held in their hands. In another case they got to play tug-of-war with the bleachers.

The seniors showed their kindness by admitting the freshmen to the initiation dance free, if they presented their armbands, which read "Seniors are Superior, Freshmen are Inferior".

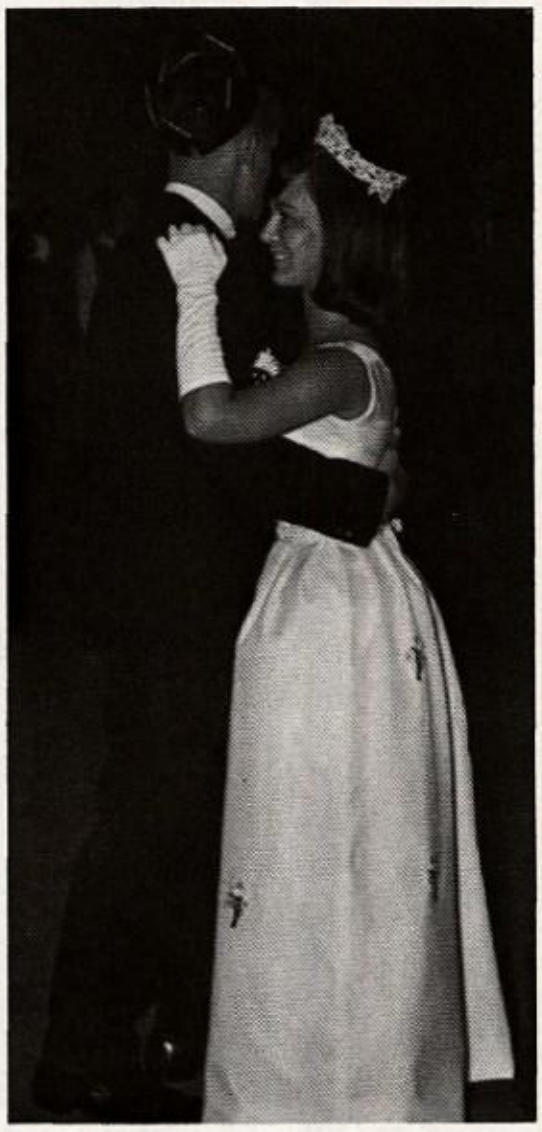
Bevan Alwin and Gary Holtz were last year's Homecoming co-chairmen. Under their direction many activities were planned which included: construction of floats, rehearsals of skits, practice sessions for bands, and yells.

Decorations were handled by Loyalty Council Chairman Bev Roeker. LeRoy Young was in charge of flowers and the throne, while the tickets were under the jurisdiction of Jerry Jessop. Duane Steiner headed the publicity committee.

In the football game, the victorious Beavers trounced their arch-rivals, the Baraboo T-Birds, in a decisive battle for SSC first place honors.



Homecoming activities culminated with a dance in the gymnasium, featuring music by Woody O'Dell and his orchestra. By working tirelessly the students transformed the gym into an appropriate setting. An enormous paper football was the ideal backdrop for the crowning ceremonies, the highlight of many weeks work and anticipation.

The traditional snake dance, led by senior class president, John Pinkert, commenced Thursday night in the business district. A combined bonfire and pep meeting, under the direction of Paul Penshorn, followed in the park at Webb.

The main speaker at the Friday assembly was Charles Phillips, Jr., who set the pace for the remaining activities. Each of the four classes presented its skit for the judges' criticism.

Later a parade wound down Webb Avenue and Main Street to display the floats, yells, and bands to the public.

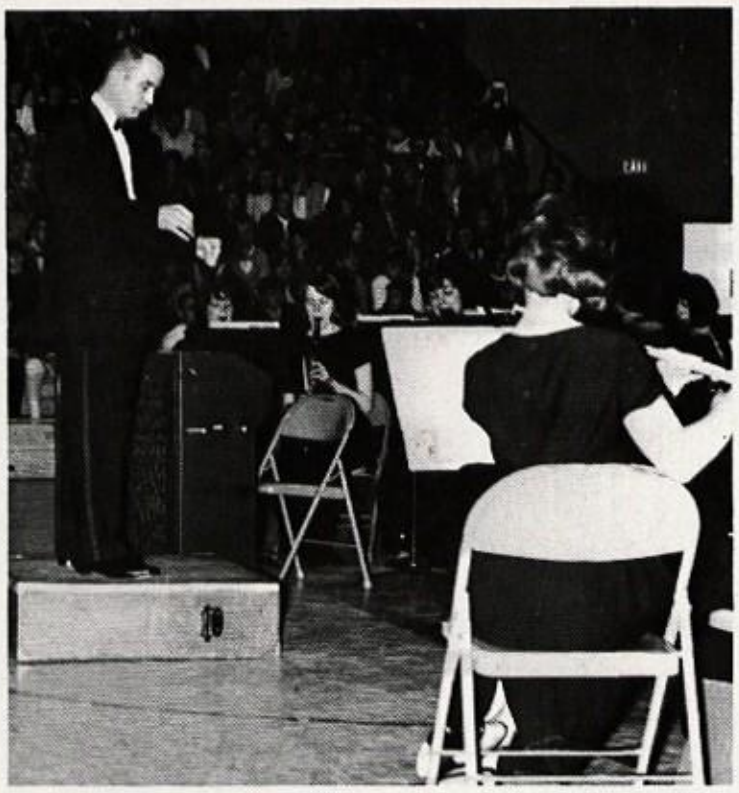
Assemblies



St. Olaf's Band

Although this year has brought us fewer assembly programs, they have been of excellent quality. The subject matter has varied from the now popular hootenanny music to a professional concert presentation by the St. Olaf Band, one of the finest musical groups in the Midwest.

Webb High is emphasizing more and more the role students should play in the assemblies. So, along these lines, a group of juniors and seniors presented an all day participation program on George Washington's birthday. The students in an afternoon assembly on Americanism portrayed the apathetic view most people in the U.S. possess and offered a solution to this problem, the use of an ultimate weapon—the power of the mind.

In another assembly the history of Wisconsin was told through songs—Badger Ballads. The singers, from the U.W., did a fine job in their presentation, and while the assembly was enjoyed knowledge was also learned.

The students looked forward to each assembly the school held with much enthusiasm, not just because they could miss a class period but because of the educational benefits.

Discussing the Gleaner

When the doors of Webb High School opened for another school year, the members of the Gleaner staff also began another year of hard work. Under the direction of our new advisors, Mrs. Bare and Miss Larsen, our yearbook was planned.

Throughout the year, the staff could be seen interviewing teachers and students, laying out pages, and identifying pictures. Action was the password to the Gleaner room. This year for the first time the organizations would be required to buy their pages. Many new creative ideas were included in this Gleaner under the leadership of our editors, Jerry Zimmerman and Janice Greenwood.

Los Matadores is composed of first, second, third year students and alumni. At their meetings it is a usual sight to see them playing Spanish bingo and planning their main event of the year, the Christmas party. At this party there is a pinata for each foreign language club. When these are broken everyone is rewarded with a prize. This is one of the customs in Spanish countries. For other activities the club sings carols and sponsors a dance.

Deadlines

The Webb staff is the journalism class of Webb High School. This group worked diligently to write and organize the Webb, our school paper. They were guided and assisted by their advisor, Miss Larson.

The Webb, which is edited every other week, contains such standard features as the sports page, club news, and the gossip column. New this year was the book review, which told briefly of interesting books. The editorial page was another addition to the Webb. On this page, students and the faculty were allowed to voice their opinions on matters pertaining to school life.

The Webb informed and entertained the students of Webb High School with its items of interest and its accounts of school events.

Surprised, Sylvia?

The American Field Service Club extended a welcoming hand to our fifth foreign exchange student, Sylvia. The AFS Club also earned funds for a future exchange student and met exchange students from other schools in this area. Other activities included Dress-up Day, a surprise party for Sylvia, and a tea at Portage for exchange students and others interested in the AFS program.

Nguyen Thi Thanh, known to us as Sylvia, came to Reedsburg from My Tho, South Viet Nam. Members of her family include her mother, father, who is a farmer, and two sisters, 20 and 22. When Sylvia returns to South Viet Nam, she plans to attend Saigon University.

Sylvia's American parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Brown. With the Brown family, Webb High students, and people of Reedsburg, Sylvia has spent a memorable year filled with studying, speeches, games, classes and fun.

Library Assistants

Students—sophomores, juniors, and seniors—assist Miss Graepp in the working of our Webb High School library. In the fall they attended a special library workshop to refresh the veterans on library duties and to orient the newcomers to library procedures. The library assistants were especially busy around St. Nicholas season decorating the school library; the annual Christmas tree was ornamented in an old-fashioned way with popcorn chains and candy canes.

The Future Farmers of America is an organization at Webb High School which tries to inspire co-operation, thrift, and leadership in today's young men. At the monthly meetings, the members of the club planned their various activities of the year which included the selling of refreshments at the football games and a hat check at the basketball games. The students in this organization also participated in judging contests and a field trip. Officers of FFA are: Mike Prothero—treasurer; Jim Bass—secretary; Tom Gardner—reporter; LaVern Davis—chaplain; Don Schinker—president; Pat Horkan—vice-president; and Jerry Jessop—sentinel.

The Pep Club, advised by Miss Blackadder and governed by its three officers, has completed another successful year. Among the club's many duties and activities are: making signs for football games, sponsoring a dance, sending the cheerleaders to camp in the summer, and generally arousing school spirit.

Through these activities the Pep Club has created more enthusiasm for the sport in the student body.

What is a hospital? Not a place to be dreaded, but a source of comfort and hope. To encourage this idea a group of Webb High's juniors and seniors who are interested in some phase of the medical profession discover by observation and doing, in the "Candy Stripers" program at the local hospital, some of the techniques of medical skills. One of the most interesting activities of the club is the field trip. This year the club toured University Hospital, Veterans Administration Hospital and Central Colony in Madison. Participating in the various activities of the club gives the members a chance to absorb the atmosphere of the hospital, get an insight into the routine and decide whether their careers should be in medicine, hospital administration or dietetics. The club is advised by Mrs. Clauson and she is assisted by Miss Beth Pugh and Richard Olson, representatives from the local hospital.

The Loyalty Council, consisting of three representatives from each class, build the framework of many student activities. Each year they plan Homecoming, including the Snake Dance, the election of a court, and the parade. They celebrate New Year's Eve by putting on a dance for which a popular band plays. In the spring they end the year with the annual Loyalty Banquet at which one class is awarded the trophy for collecting the most points from Homecoming, the academic area, the extra-curricular activities, and the Loyalty Banquet. During this year, meeting once a week, the Council discussed many problems presented to them by the students through the homeroom representatives. Each quarter they have the honor of choosing one girl and one boy for the Outstanding Citizens Award. Through all these activities, the Loyalty Council has unified and improved Webb High's student body.

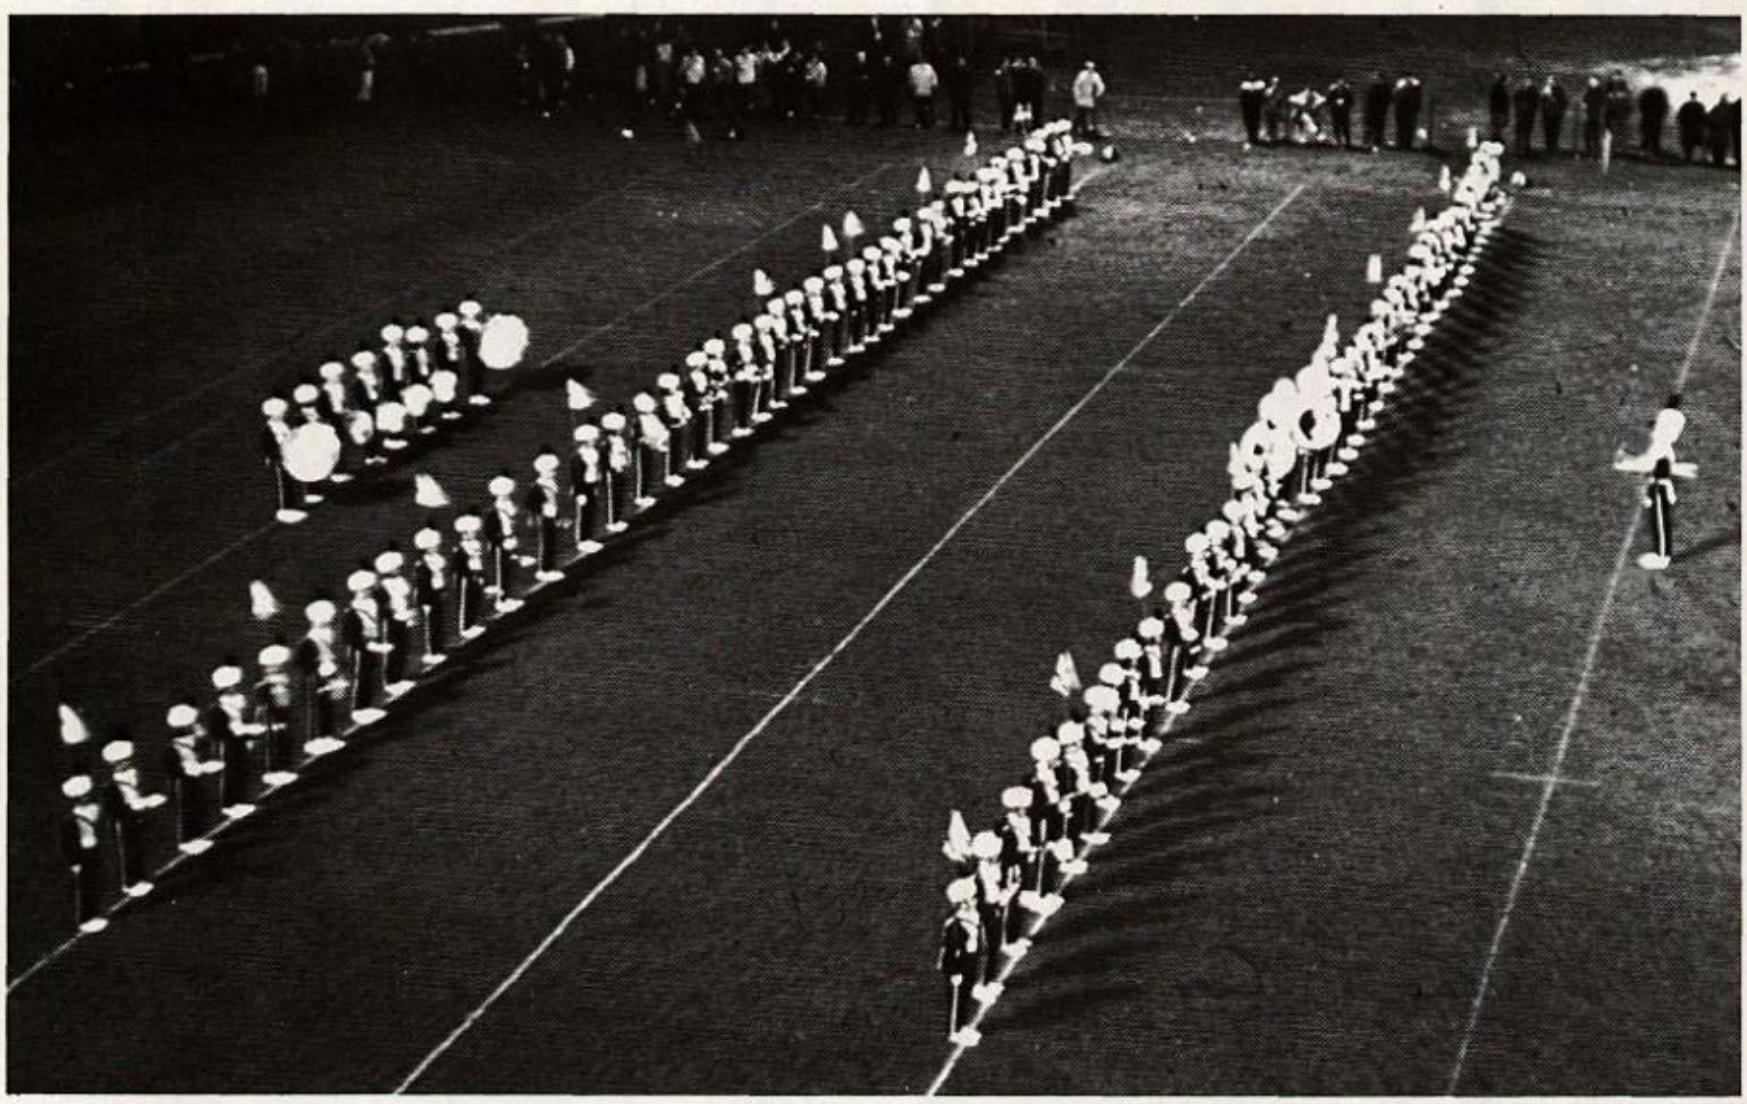
In previous years, The Reedsburg High School Concert Band, which is under the direction of Mr. Loren Wolf, has always given Webb something to be proud of, and it has done the same this year. The band participated in the annual Band Day at the University Stadium at Madison at the beginning of the school year. On band day, thousands of musicians from all over the state of Wisconsin assemble at Camp Randall to provide halftime entertainment for a Badger football game. Some of the band's other activities included sponsoring a woodwind clinic and an exchange concert, and performing several school concerts. Two of the most important experiences for the band were participating in the solo and ensemble contest and the music festival. For both of these, the students worked hard and long to again prove the outstanding abilities of our Webb High musicians.

Marching Band



This year, the 1965 marching band proudly displayed for the first its new uniforms. The uniform is a contrasting dark blue and white. It has an overlay to use during marching season, but this is removed when the band performs concerts. Although the school district purchased the uniform itself, the students worked very hard throughout last summer, giving concerts and sponsoring other activities to purchase the accessories, such as gloves and plastic uniform bags. At each of the football games, a familiar sight on the football field at halftime was the Reedsburg High School Marching Band. The band worked hard each day during the football season to prepare and perfect a very enjoyable halftime show. The show which highlighted the marching season was the one performed at the 1965 Homecoming game. A halftime show of precise turns and formations produced an effect which sent alumni and visiting fans home talking about a halftime show well done.

Officers

There is something new in the music department this year. Mr. Wolf, Webb's band director, has combined musicians of the Freshman, Sophomore and Junior classes to form a Symphonic Band. This band takes the place of the old Varsity Band. During the football season, the band was given an opportunity to march in the Homecoming halftime show. The 1965-1966 officers of the Symphonic Band were Bob Gardner, President, Karen Lewis, Librarian, and Janet Phillips, Vice-president. Besides giving concerts, the Symphonic Band also participated in the Solo and Ensemble Contest and the Music Festival.

One of Webb's most musically talented organizations is the orchestra. Directed by Mr. James Found, the orchestra not only consists of stringed instruments—the violin, viola, violoncello and bass violin—but also utilizes some instruments from the Concert Band —the cornet, trombone, flute, French horn, clarinet, oboe, and bassoon. Our orchestra worked very hard this year, practicing for and presenting children's concerts at the LaValle and Loganville elementary schools and in the Reedsburg Junior High and South Schools.

This year a new experience, the orchestra clinic, was devised by Mr. Found for the orchestra, an experience which offered them the opportunity to gain new understanding and new techniques. The clinic, held at Webb, occupied an entire winter day. In the evening, the orchestra participated in a concert. Besides playing concerts for the public, the orchestra also participated in the Solo and Ensemble Contest.

For the fifth time in seven years, the Beavers of Reedsburg are champions of the South Central Conference. Four of these championships came under Coach Nick Holmes while the most recent was won under Coach Mike Liebenstein.

Coach Liebenstein came to us from Stevens Point, where he was teaching at Pacilli. He is a coach who believes in winning (who doesn't!) and in gang tackling. He brought a lot of joy to all of the guys who played under him. He gave out awards and wasn't rough. This in turn made the boys enjoy the game 100% more. This year there weren't any "big Joes" around as in former years, but there were boys of equal calibre: Steve Ellett and his younger brother Rick as well as Dan Schmitt, to mention a few. These boys made All-Conference for the first offensive team.

Offensive, which was the Beavers greatest asset, found Dan Bohen at the helm. Dan, named All-Conference quarterback, had his greatest year. He threw for a percent of 58. He was one of the top contenders for the scoring title. Dan also won the MVP award and Steve Ellett was named Captain.

The Beavers took the title undisputed, with a stunning victory over Baraboo of 20—0. Throughout most of the season, a team up north, BRF, was threatening to take the crown. Both teams were tied going into the final battle. But BRF was defeated by Tomah. This clinched the Beavers' successful season.

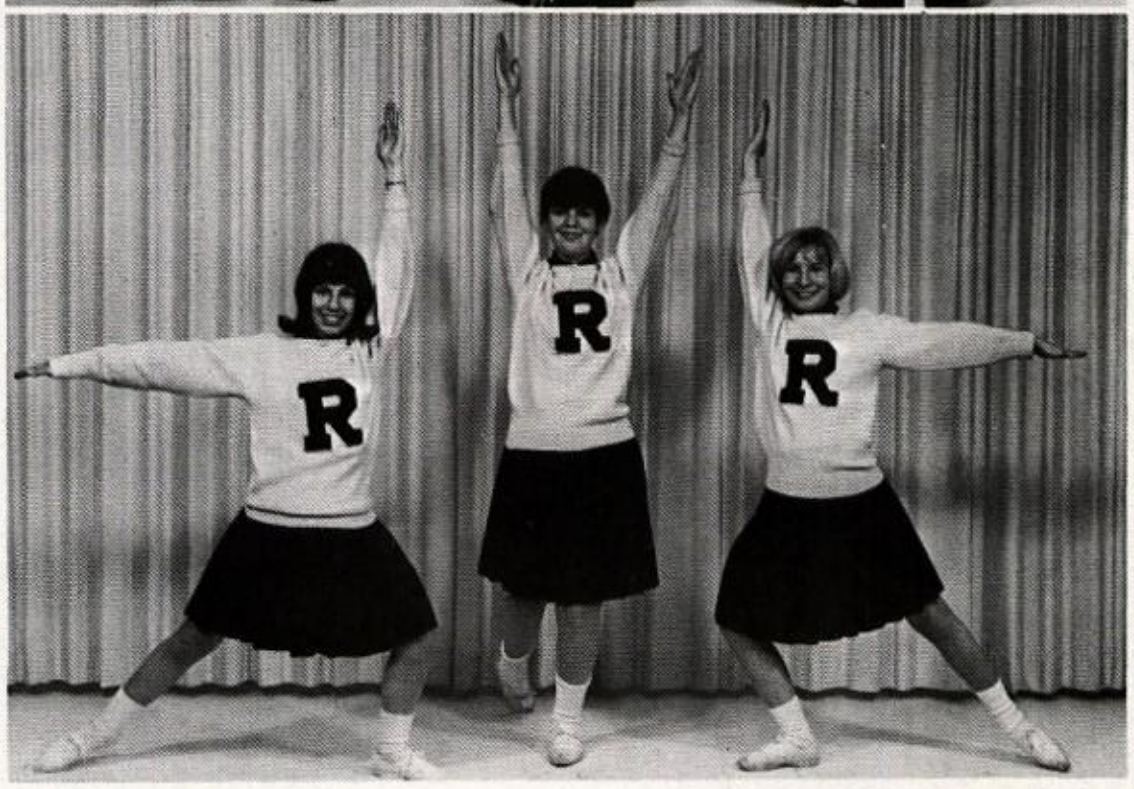
Cheerleaders

VARSITY

The Varsity Cheerleaders of the 1965-66 Football and Basketball season were Sharon Lowery, Julie Rue, and Vicki Johannes (KNEELING); Linda Koenecke, Mary Riggert, and Pat Arndt (STANDING). These g ls were responsible for arousing Webb's school spirit. The main duty of our cheerleaders is to lead fans in cheering the team. Their goal is to back the Beavers one-hundred percent.

JUNIOR VARSITY

At all of the Junior-Varsity basketball games, our players found five enthusiastic girls giving all they've got to promote a Beaver victory. This year's Junior-Varsity cheerleaders were Pat Grantin, Mary Rue, and Renee Lassalette (FRONT ROW); Nancy Sale and Dorothy Farber (STANDING). These girls knew how important it was to the players to have fans cheering them to victory, and they gave them their loyal support. We are fortunate to have such spirit at Webb.



WRESTLING

Wrestling cheerleaders are something new at Webb High. The girls who cheered for the grapplers as individuals and as a team were Barb Jordan, Sally Voll, and Marcia Schultz. Wrestling is becoming a more competitive sport each year. Here at Webb it is easy to see how enthusiasm for a sport can spread in a short time. The wrestling team did extremely well this year, and you can be sure that they appreciate the cheerleading done by these girls.

Basketball for Reedsburg had a good season no matter how you look at it. The Beavers were trying their hardest at all times. As one coach remarked, "They went 100% all the time."

The Beavers were an unusual team in certain respects. When Reedsburg had a substantial lead, they kept applying the pressure where other teams would have slowed down. Such was the case in Tomah. Reedsburg had a seven point lead and within four and one half minutes the lead was 22 points.

Fans often looked down on the Beavers, which is all right at times since this is what keeps a team going. A familiar quote in the locker room before the game was, "We have to win to show the people we have the ability."

Although the Beavers were small, they had the essentials of speed and accuracy. They were, in fact, as fast as any team on the court.

Seven seniors will graduate from the team this year, leaving only a starting five. What that will need is support, so be on your toes for the Beaver five next season.

Reedsburg High School should be very proud of its wrestling team. The grapplers finished among the top teams in the conference. The Beavers were represented very well in tournaments and had their fair share of winners.

Coach Caldwell, who came from Juda High School, should be very proud of his boys. In most cases, a coach does not have good luck in his first year. But he had good material to work with and developed a good team.

He deserves credit for making the team really work. This fact made a great impression on all the wrestlers. These are the details that build a winning team.

Beaver fans can look forward to a strong team again next season.

For the Freshmen, this past year has been one that they will never forget. From the first assembly last fall, welcoming them to Webb, to the last assembly this spring, congratulating them on the completion of an extremely successful year, the Freshmen have had the opportunity really to become a part of the school.

Initiation marked their acceptance into the routine of school activities. Having to wear long underwear or a gunny sack wasn't such a high price to pay for all the good times they have had at the various school events: pep rallies, cheering the Beavers, dances, Homecoming, and Loyalty.

At Homecoming the Freshmen had their first chance, as students of Webb High School, to cheer the football team to a victory over Baraboo. Of course, the snake dance, the bonfire, and working on their float and skit were all unforgettable parts of their first Homecoming.

And they won't forget working for Loyalty points throughout the entire year, until the night of the Loyalty Banquet.

All this has helped to make the Freshmen truly a part of Webb High School.

Class

The Sophomore class now has a feeling of security, as high school life has become more familiar, and graduation seems a goal in the far distance. They look back over the past year as one of experience, and look forward to their next two years at Webb. They remember their Freshman year, when high school was a new challenge for them. It was a year of meeting new people and getting acquainted with Webb. But this year, they have passed another milestone in their education.

Homecoming was a huge success for the Sophomores this year. They were able to achieve five points toward Loyalty.

The election of their officers and Loyalty representatives gave the Sophomores a chance to choose candidates to represent them in the student government at Webb.

Football and basketball games, pep rallies and school dances all gave their past year at Webb a touch of thrill and excitement.

The selection and ordering of their class rings highlighted their Sophomore year. They now realize that soon they will be upperclassmen and they look forward to their next two years at Webb.

Class

The Junior class finally made it as upperclassmen and enjoyed the past year a great deal. They can take a long look back on all of the events of their past three years at Webb and be assured that in the year to come these events will mean the same as they did when they were freshmen. They have only one more year to enjoy the familiarity of Webb: the teachers, old friends and new, tests, study hall, and sports events.

The first major event for the Juniors was receiving their class rings. Everyone was pleased with the style chosen. Homecoming again was an important happening, and even though the class of 1967 did not acquire first place, the fun and many good times they had before and during Homecoming festivities will be remembered by all. Two other highlights of the year were a successful prom and the traditional Loyalty Banquet.

These events and many others have made this past year a most memorable one for the Juniors.

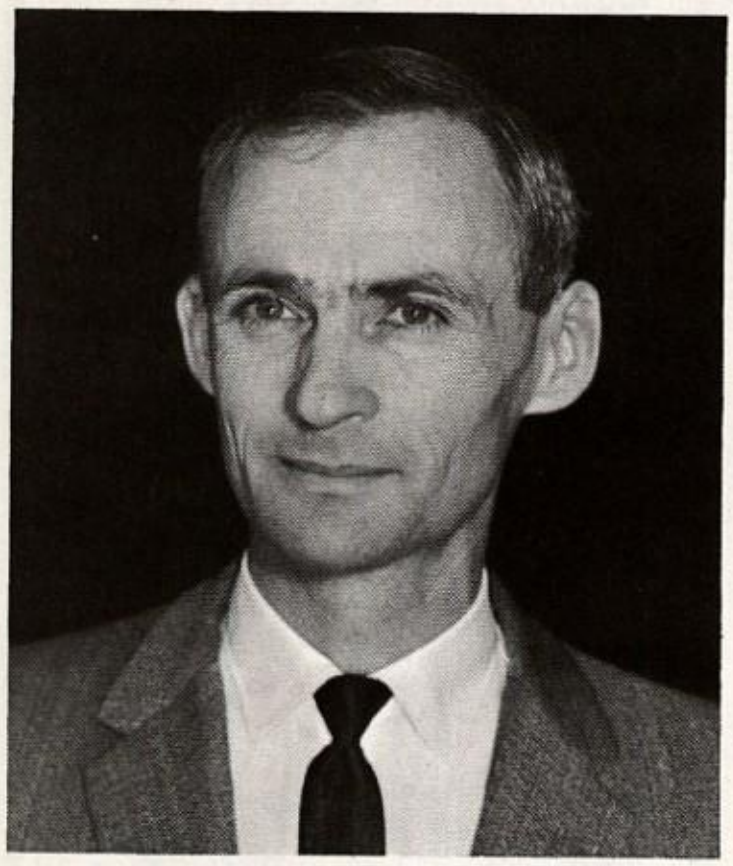
Senior Class . . . Pass in Review

Class Officers: Steve Merkel, Vice-president; Bonnie Anderson, Secretary-treasurer; John Pinkert, President.



Class Advisor:
Mr. Wendell Boone

We entered Webb in '62 under the traditional atmosphere of shoe-shining and song-singing. After this humble entrance, we conditioned ourselves to the trying four years ahead. To our happiness we soon found that our life was not all work and no play and we threw ourselves into various activities. As a fairly large class, we found we could hold our own in everything from speech making to butting heads on the grid. Our freshman year could be termed successful and a definite step in the right direction.

Step number two on our upward climb was the Sophomore year. While still holding our own in the intellectual department, we took part with a flare in many extracurricular activities. We distinguished ourselves in the drama of the one act and all school plays and all took a healthy interest in the physical aspects of our education. We are proud to say that it was during this year Mr. Bruss introduced a very worthwhile organization at Webb. That was, of course, the Key Club, and we were honored to be charter members in this distinguished organization. Years of hard work paid off in '64 when the band outdid itself by winning the State Lion's Parade competition. First prize was a trip to Toronto, Canada, where we marched under the direction of "Tall Paul" in the International Lion's Club Parade.

The Junior year is always the busiest for any class and we were no exception. Our float took first place in Homecoming this year and we were recognized as a threat to the class of '65 and their domination of the Loyalty race. Our prom was termed a major success by those "in the know." Under the theme "Venetian Serenade." we incorporated both the intellectual and the beautiful into our fountain and flowing waterfall. Putting our individuality to good use, we became the first class at Webb to choose the handsome "college type" class rings. Step 3 will always remain prominent in our memories.

And now we entered step 4, our Senior year; for some of us, the last one, for others merely another step towards the top. But, whatever it means to each of us separately, there are certain feelings which we all claim. We take time now to think back over our four years here, to reminisce of good times, good friends and, most important, valuable education. Webb has done its part in making us strong citizens and now as we step out into the world, it is our duty to carry on in the fine traditions of our "Alma Mater".

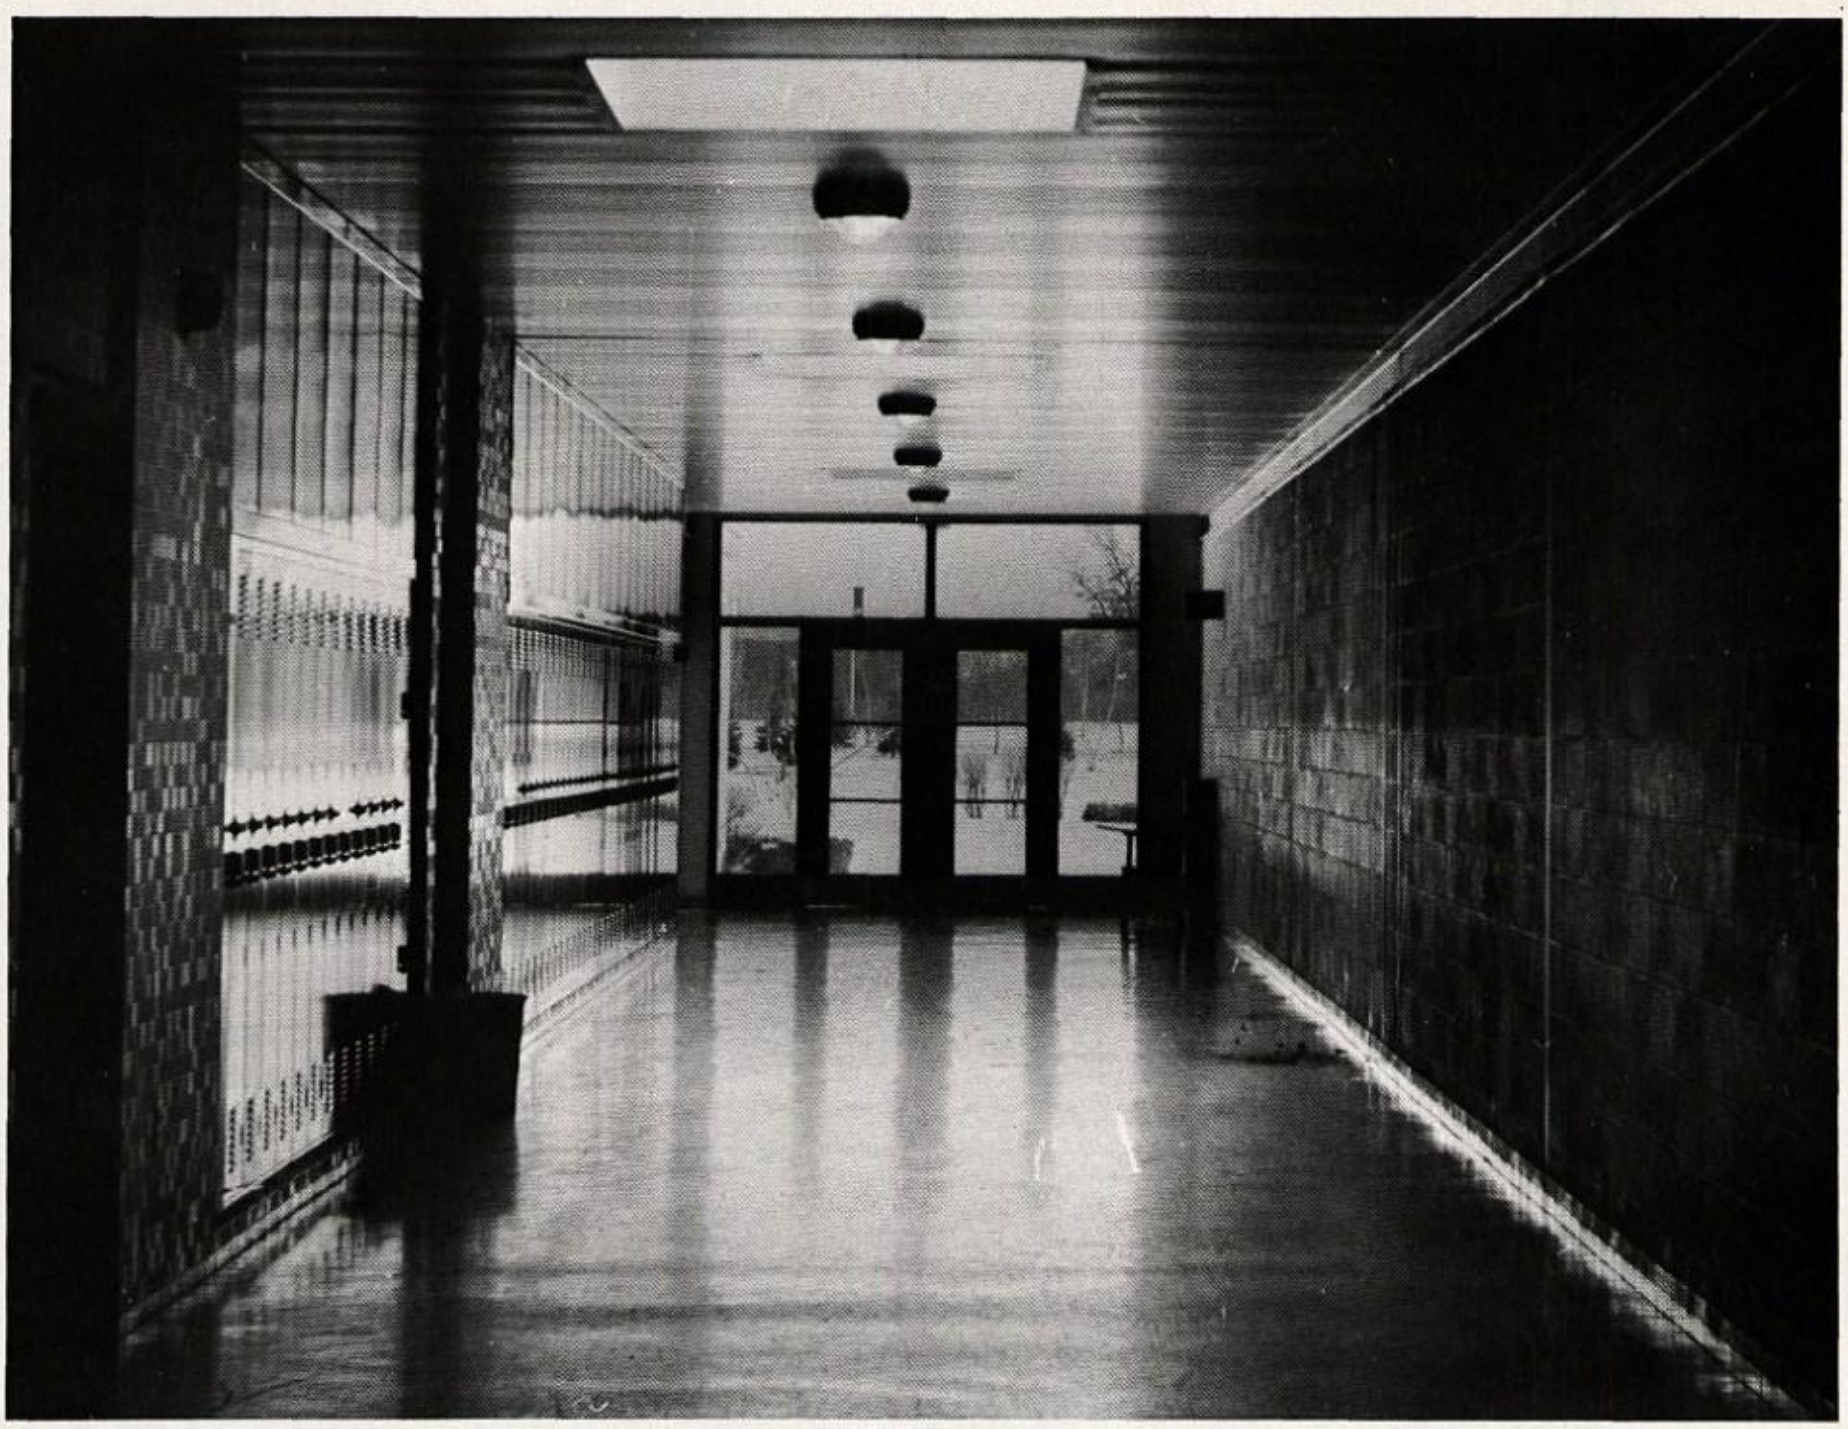
In Memoriam

Mrs. Grace Hart Schultz

For 21 years, from 1928-1946 and from 1962-1965, Reedsburg high school students were taught history and Spanish by Grace Schultz. Anyone who knew Mrs. Schultz will remember her as a teacher who really seemed to care about her students, both in the classroom, and outside of it in her extracurricular associations. For many years she gave up countless hours of her own time in order to be head adviser for the Gleaner and even during the years when she devoted her time to her family or taught at Sauk County Teachers College, continued to offer assistance and advice to the Gleaner staff. Mrs. Schultz also was adviser to the Spanish Club and a class adviser. For these groups, too, she gave willingly of herself.

Everyone was truly saddened by the death of Mrs. Schultz on December 1, 1965, but we will always remember the inspiration she gave through her unselfish devotion to both her career, and the individual needs of her students.



"And I Have Promises To Keep,
And Miles To Go Before
I Sleep;
And Miles To Go Before
I Sleep . . ."

Loyalty '66'

The theme for the Loyalty Banquet May 14, 1966, was "Places to Go and See," The highlight of the evening was the moment when Mr. Olson Presented Sophomore class President Dan Holzmiller with the Loyalty trophy. He had also recognized the eight Good Citizens chosen during the year.

The sophomore theme was "This Proud Land" and brought them a first in table decorations. The other sub-themes were: Seniors, "See Wisconsin First", Juniors, "Down the Mississippi"; and Freshmen, "Holland". Working the entire year toward the goal had given the Sophomores 88 1/2 points, the Seniors 82 1/2 points, third place to Juniors with 74 1/2 points, and Freshmen fourth with a total of 66. There is no doubt about it, Loyalty '66 was in itself a "place to go and see."

Home Again!

Practice makes perfect!

For the first time this year the numerous amateur actors and actresses of Webb High pooled their talents and efforts and put on a musical production. Under the competent direction of Mr. Robert Sessions, Fiorello was presented on the 11th and 12th of March, 1966. Along with the high school orchestra, which was supplemented by a group of local adults and directed by Mr. James Found, the entire cast and stage crew should be commended for their superb performance. Fiorello was presented this year in the place of a senior class play with much success. Many varied talents were displayed throughout the play. The performers on stage, as well as many people behind the scenes worked together as a team to assure an enjoyable performance. Memorable experiences were the important rewards of the hard work.

Track

The action this year was right outside school. The baseball team finished up the season hot by putting together a string of wins that pointed to the strong possibility of a good team next year. On their practice field, the track team was running, hurdling, vaulting, and dashing their way to a satisfying year for Coach Jax. Both Coach Jax and baseball's Coach Moran can expect a bright future in their 1967 seasons.

Tennis

The Tennis Team had an excellent season, topping it off by winning the conference. Dan Bohen became the singles champion. They also did real well in the doubles. Coach Lynett can look to a promising future, with three members of this year's team returning. The Golf team did not have a great season, but, with four members of this year's team returning, they should do better next year.

"Paradise Isle"

On April 23 our Webb High gym was transformed into a "Paradise Isle" for the 1966 Junior Prom. The couples entered the Isle through a colorful tropical garden. A shell-shaped throne framed the handsome king, Tom Gardner and the charming queen, Linda Westerman. Palm trees and a blue false ceiling created the atmosphere of a Paradise Isle in the Pacific. Much hard work and time was put into this prom, but it was obvious that the work was worthwhile.
